MSC Receives Full Rights and Title To Veteran Housing

All rights and title to 194 dwelling units for the housing of veterans have been relinquished by the Federal Government, according to a release by the Public Housing Administration.

Henceforth all revenues from the rental of these accommodations will be retained by the college. According to Public Law 796, preference in filling vacancies must continue to be given to students who are veterans of World War II or servicemen. Rents remain subject to applicable Federal or local controls.

In order for the college to obtain title to the buildings, application had to be made to the Public Housing Administration. The application by the college was approved.

The facilities obtained by Murray State College include the following: 97 family dwellings, 64 dormitory units, 17 trailers. Other Kentucky schools receiving title to similar facilities are Western, Asbury College, and Kentucky Wesleyan College.

Marion Copeland Attends Meeting

Miss Marion Copeland is attending National Youth Conference of North America at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Miss Copeland is representing Cumberland Presbyterian Kentucky Synod as president as well as the local church at North Pleasant Grove. The conference is represented by all denominations.

The convocation opened Tuesday night with a nation-wide radio broadcast of the America's Town Meeting of the Air. Among the speakers on this famous forum was Gil Dadds, star athlete and young minister.

Governor Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota spoke Wednesday night on the topic "The Church and the Layman."

Other prominent speakers are Dr. Howard Thurman, minister of the Church for the Fellowship of All Peoples, San Francisco; Dr. Walter Muelder, Boston theologian; Dr. Isaac K. Beckes, executive secretary of the United Christian Youth Movement, Chicago; and Dr. Cleo Blackburn, interracial leader of Indianapolis.

National meetings for the youth of many denominations are being held during the interchurch conference. "Conventions" for the delegates from each of the 48 states and the Canadian provinces were held Thursday night. Foreign students from 14 overseas nations and territories held special sessions.

Representing 40 denominations, 35 interchurch and youth state agencies, such as Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the United Christian Youth Movement is the sponsor of this conference on the theme "United! Committed! In Christ."

Volcano Kills 15 Persons To Date

MANILA, Sept. 4. (UP)—At least 15 persons have been killed by a four-day-old volcanic eruption on Camiguin island in the southern Philippines and 25,000 have fled to safety on neighboring islands, reports reaching Manila said today.

Every available vessel, including the American freighter Eugene Lykes and Philippine Navy patrol ships, has been commandeered to speed evacuation of the island's estimated 52,000 inhabitants, unofficial reports said.

Press reports said Mt. Hibok on Camiguin island, which first began erupting last Wednesday after lying dormant 77 years, still was spewing forth fire and lava.

Latest On Politics

Democrats today came up with a new type of herring—a blue blooded herring—to describe Republican campaign charges.

Democratic-national chairman J. Howard McGrath used the "blue blood" term in belittling an insinuation by GOP chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., that Mr. Truman and the communist party had a "working agreement" during the 1944 campaign.

"It is a blue-blooded herring," McGrath said, "because it is the creation of the gentleman (Scott) who once boasted that the Republicans are the best stock and therefore should take over the government."

Democrats have accused Scott repeatedly of having said in 1943 that the GOP should assume the reins of government "because we are the best stock." He has denied the accusation.

President Truman had already made herring a political by-word. He has said that espionage investigations of GOP-controlled congressional committees were nothing more than a "red herring" to cover up congress' failure to take action against high prices.

Scott raised the question of the communist party's endorsement of the 1944 Roosevelt-Truman ticket in a statement yesterday. But McGrath said in reply that Scott knew perfectly well that Mr. Roosevelt publicly repudiated any Red support he might have.

He said that the charge "is a blue-blooded herring designed to distract attention from the Republican inflation."

The Dixiecrats, meanwhile, struck back hard at a statement by McGrath's assistant, William Primus that southern national committee men and women should support either President Truman or resign their party posts.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the Dixiecrat presidential nominee, said that any attempt to read his supporters out of the democratic party "is like the tail trying to throw the dog out of the kennel."

"The Democratic party belongs to the people who got to make it up," he said. "It does not belong to the temporary national leadership. The Democrats of the south have repudiated that leadership and are fighting to return the party to its traditional principles.

"We are not bolters. The bolters are those who have betrayed the party's principles."

Other political developments: Truman—The white house announced that president Truman will leave Washington tomorrow for his campaign-opening speech for Detroit Labor Day. Mr. Truman will also speak at Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint and Pontiac. On his way home, he will make a short-platform talk at Toledo, O.

Wallace—Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party's presidential candidate, said in Nashville, Tenn., he favors repeal of state laws against marriages between whites and Negroes. Wallace will speak tonight at Knoxville, Tenn., to find up a whirlwind southern tour that carried him through seven states in seven days. High spot of his swing was the egg and tomato barrage he received in North Carolina.

Texas—Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson, held a slim 15-vote lead over former Gov. Coke Stevenson in their hot primary race for U. S. senator. The election was held last Saturday.

Dewey—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York will make a major campaign speech in Massachusetts, probably in the middle of October. Republicans—the GOP national committee appointed Miss Geneva McQuatters of Northwood, Ia., war-time director of the ground forces women's army corps, to muster the women's vote for the Dewey Warren ticket.

Labor—A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and a one-time Truman foe, predicted in Rochester, N. Y., that Mr. Truman would be elected in November.

Prices—Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan will take his fight with Harold E. Stassen over the administration's price support program into his critic's home grounds—Minnesota. Brannan will speak tomorrow at Faribault, Minn. Stassen has charged that Brannan's policies are designed deliberately to keep prices up. The cabinet officer said Stassen was just trying to shift the responsibility for high prices away from the GOP congress.

THINNING THEIR COLOR—Using a stick to point to the woman he wants to address, a Greek intelligence officer in Athens questions female Reds in a rebel concentration camp. Reds will get courses in "democracy" in an attempt to make them "good Greeks."

Capitol Dome No Place to Sun Bathe

WASHINGTON, (UP)—A curious, some brunettes nonchalantly striped to her skin on the capitol roof just below the dome today and said she wanted to take a sunbath.

To police who butted in she identified herself as Dorothy P. Smith of Malone, N. Y. She looked to be about 30.

A startled bookbinder in the senate library watched her disrobe outside his workroom window.

After removing the last garment, she tossed a number of objects from her handbag, including some coins, over a railing to the capitol steps 100 feet below.

The bookbinder, Walter Lin Scott, went out on the roof and tried to persuade her to put her clothes back on.

She demurred, explaining: "I want to take a sun bath."

THE SHOW WILL GO ON BUT AT 4:30

The show must go on, has taken a turn for the worse in the case of the Varsity and Capitol theatre here. The power interruptions Monday will not exactly stop the show but it will be delayed for several hours. Manager Frank Lancaster said today that the shows will open at 4:30 p.m. instead of 12:30, the normal opening hour.

City Employees To Receive Pay Two Times Monthly

The city council of Murray met last night and handled routine business of the city. Present at the meeting were Mayor George Hart, P. B. Gholson, Earl Littleton, Vernon Hale, Guy Billington, Wells Purdon, Dewey Jones, Wells Overbey, T. Sleds Chas. B. Grogan and Fire Chief William O. Spencer.

The resignation of day patrolman E. Robinson was read and accepted by the council. The resignation was effected August 31.

It was agreed that when the city grader was used on projects other than in the city, a city operator would be in charge of the machine.

A discussion was held on the use of courtesy tickets for out of town visitors. It was agreed that the idea was good, but that there was no way to tell visitors from others just by the car. It was brought out that used cars are brought in with out of state licenses on them which are used for some time after a sale or trade is made.

A request from Cecil Fitts was ruled out. The request was for rental of parking spaces on the city streets for a taxi concern.

A request from P. B. Orr that the assessment on a 1947 Chevrolet be lowered was granted. A request from Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ferrara that they be exempt from personal property and poll tax since they do not live here was granted.

Fire Chief William O. Spencer asked that cooperation be given him in the promotion of Fire Prevention Week. This was granted and Guy Billington was appointed to the post of Chairman of Fire Prevention Week.

Fire Chief Spencer requested that the firemen be paid twice a month instead of once a month. After some discussion, it was agreed to pay all city employees twice a month in order to have the same system throughout.

Mayor Hart said that he had received a letter indicating that the state had taken over Main street and Fourth Street. From now on he said, the state will maintain and repair these streets.

Annual Meeting, County Homemakers Ends With Interesting Talk Here

Four young mice strolled leisurely out of the Bank of Murray front door yesterday, much to the distress of several ladies standing nearby. We don't know whether they had banked their cheese there, went in to pay interest on a loan, or were just seeing the sights of Murray.

An advance billing by their press agent would be appreciated by the ladies though, in case they plan to make a return engagement.

NO PAPER LABOR DAY

The Ledger and Times will not publish a paper on Monday, September 6, in order that the employees may have the day off for recreation. Most business houses in Murray will close on that day according to indications.

Labor Day will be one of the four days in the year that the Ledger and Times will not publish. The other days are Thanksgiving, Christmas, and July 4.

Mrs. Alice Brittain Claimed by Death

Mrs. Mary Alice Brittain, age 41, died yesterday at her home on Murray route 6, due to childbirth.

She is survived by her husband Billie R. Brittain; her mother, Mrs. Emma Lee Boggess; one daughter Miss Wilma Laverne Brittain; five sons, Virgil, Billy Joe, Lonnie, and the baby boy; three sisters, Mrs. Lila Robertson, of Patterson, Ark., Mrs. Myrtle Lyons, Murray route 4, Mrs. Eula Mae Garland, New Concord; one brother, Wavil Boggess of Flint, Mich.

She was a member of the Poplar Springs Baptist church. The funeral will be held there tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. with the Rev. Lloyd Wilson and Rev. A. R. Harris officiating. Burial will be in the Barnett cemetery.

Mrs. Ewing Thurmond, director of Purchase District in Kentucky Federation of Homemakers, Standard Printing Co. 220-230 S. First St. Zone 2

Following the invocation by Mrs. Rupert Lassiter, several songs were sung, led by Mrs. Aubrey Farris with Mrs. R. L. Cooper as pianist.

The roll call by clubs, the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report was done by Mrs. Eugene Shipley, in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. C. C. Salmon.

Mrs. Ollie Brown illustrated how to make a corsage, using gladioli, roses, mum and various other flowers. Mrs. Brown indicated her ability at corsage making. As she worked, she talked about the materials needed, the color of ribbons that blended well with the flowers.

Mrs. Brown has her own flower garden. She works with the Homemakers Garden Club and teaches flower planting, arrangement of flowers in the home and the making of corsages.

After Mrs. Brown completed the corsages, they were presented to the guest speakers, Mrs. Ewing Thurmond, Franklin, Ky., Mrs. Charles Moss, Arlington, Ky., Miss Rachel Rowland, home agent, Mrs. Maynard Ragsdale, chairman, and Mrs. Eugene Shipley, secretary.

Greetings to those present were made by Miss Leone Gillett, assistant state leader, home demonstration work.

Reports of the year's work were given in the form of a rehearsal directed by Mrs. C. B. Crawford.

Mrs. Johnnie Walker, membership chairman, stated there were twelve homemakers clubs in the county, four new clubs this year, with 270 members and eight clubs furnishing 4-H Club leaders.

Mrs. Samuel Adams, citizenship chairman, reported the following civic projects undertaken by Homemakers: Women's Rest Room, Clinics for pre-school children, donations made to cancer and T. B. drive, $85.00, needy families helped.

The closing number, Mrs. Ewing Thurmond, told about her trip to Europe last year.

She, with 86 other delegates of the A.C.W.W., visited four countries in Europe, England, Netherlands, Belgium and France. They sailed on the Queen Mary and returned on the Marine Tiger.

She stated the living conditions in England were terrible—everything was rationed. A member of Parliament had only two shirts—had to wear one for two or three days while the other one was being laundered. Food was tasteless—lacked fat for seasoning. Bread so hard, had to dunk it in coffee to eat it. One egg per week—peaches $3.00 apiece. She stated women needed needles and thread, buttons and tape. Said she was glad to leave London for she felt like she was eating food they needed.

She stated the people of Holland were more resourceful, cleaner and happier. Their rations were not so strict. They cultivate every inch of their soil that has been rebuilt since the dykes were broken and the land covered with salt.

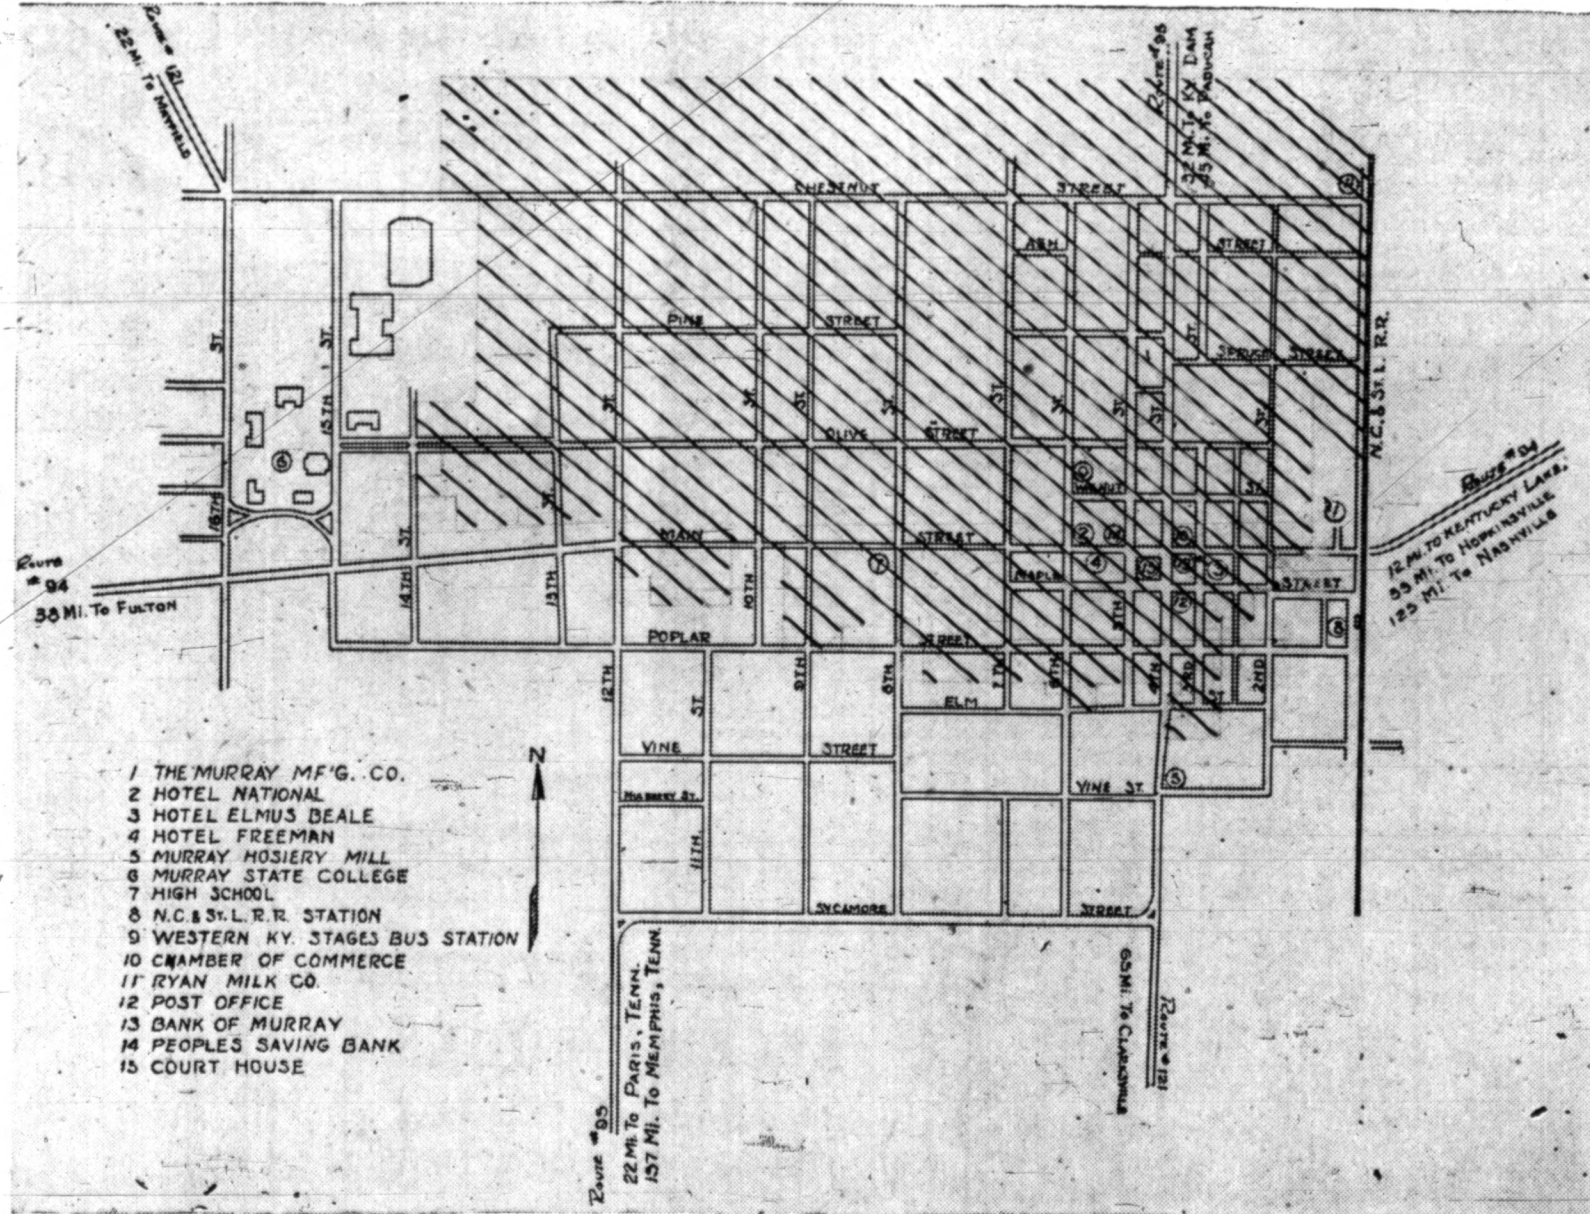

The living conditions in Belgium are very good, but everything very expensive. They export and import goods.

She painted a rather dark picture for France—strict rationing, terrible food, baths only twice a week, one small cake of soap per week for all purposes, one hand towel, and one bath towel and share one end with room mate. Children have rickets, T. B. and everyone unhappy.

Mrs. Thurmond closed her address with lines from Van Dyke, "There's No Place Like Home," the good old U. S. A.

Asked To Form New Government
PARIS, Sept. 4. (UP)—President Vincent Auriol today asked former Premier Robert Schuman to try again to form a new French government.

Cletus C. Farmer who was admitted to the Murray Hospital Friday for surgery is reported to be resting well after removal of appendix and gall stones.

PICTURED ABOVE is a map of the city showing the areas that will have power interruptions Sunday and Monday, September 5 and 6. The unshaded area will have a power interruption from 5:00 a.m. until 11:00 a.m. on Sunday. The shaded area will have the interruption during the same hours on Monday. The entire city will have a power stoppage from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Monday, September 6.

Are We Too Lenient?

Ever since we can remember there have been reports of human depravity in newspapers, and each generation believes it is worse, in many respects, than those that have gone before.

If we analyze the situation we will find nothing changes except our attitude towards evil.

The juvenile delinquency problem is a new one, to be sure, but a great deal we consider crime now-a-days was once taken as a matter of course.

It has always been difficult to raise children, and there have always been bad ones. We are using courts of law now to accomplish what our grandfathers tried to do with hickory switches and we maintain reform schools at the expense of the taxpayers where once we relied upon the wood-shed.

The public gets a real shock when police make a raid on some swank Hollywood mansion and arrest men and women, prominent in the public eye, for using marijuana, while a couple of decades ago the same type of characters wouldn't rate a mention in the newspapers.

The thing that happened at the home of film actress Lila Leeds just before dawn Wednesday is no worse than happenings in houses of ill-fame in any American city almost any Saturday night twenty-five years ago. Our attitude towards such things has changed.

Another change has taken place, however, that is more dangerous, and that is the attitude of the law towards human depravity.

Not so many years ago a man who committed murder could reasonably expect to hang unless the provocation was mighty strong. Even dope fiends and peddlers were imprisoned to discourage an illegal practice, and traffic.

Robert Mitchum, star of the Ernie Pyle movie, "The Story of G. I. Joe," has no fear of prison bars because he was caught smoking "reefers."

He smiled as he was finger-printed, and when he was asked about posting bond he calmly referred officers to either of his employers, R. K. O. or David O. Selznick.

The publicity Mitchum has received will undoubtedly interfere with his movie career. His depravity won't. Nor will he probably spend any time in jail for offense against society.

We modern Americans get a thrill in reading sensational news. We are not much concerned about meting out justice to offenders in a way we once did.

An attempt to impose justice on a man like Mitchum would arouse sob sisters from Maine to California and result in making a hero of him to bobby-soxers, and even boys.

We are aroused over infiltration of red spies into some of our most important government departments, but it has been a long time since we convicted anybody of treason.

We will always have traitors, sex perverts, dope addicts, murderers and juvenile delinquents because human beings are weak.

Their presence in society is regrettable, but they offer no serious problem. What we do about it is extremely important.

Congressman From Illinois Is 82, But He Stays Fresh, Works Help to Frizzle

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (UPI)—Adolph Sabath, a Democrat and the dean of the house of representatives, is 82—a few years over twice my age. He challenged me as he walked between the capitol and the house office building. He pulled up at his office door three lengths in front, and fresh as a daisy: I was painting like a small boy who had just been snagged by the tumbler of coffee.

That's the way the congressman from Illinois operates. He works his help to a frazzle. At the end of the day Scotty Shaw, his secretary, who is gray and paunchy, too, is limp. But the old man still is bright-eyed and bushy-tailed as the saying goes. Sabath has been in congress for 21 consecutive terms. So running for another term is no ordeal for Adolph. Just old stuff.

"Am I going to campaign?" The Chicago democrat stuck on his cigar for a second and exploded. "Of course I'm gonna campaign. For myself—but for the Democratic party. The smart these Republicans are putting on the good name of Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman I've been on capital hill for 42 years' and old man, and I've never seen anything like it."

The congressman is about the best dressed man in the government and a personable fellow to boot.

The answers personally every letter he gets from a constituent—whether it comes from a toddling non-voter or somebody outside his district. He gets the doggiest mail.

From people wanting to know how to tell one yellow canary from another. Kids want patterns for doll dresses. Folks who want to know where to get the

War Hospital Vets Plan First Reunion

COLUMBUS, O. (UPI)—Members of the late war, good and bad, will be reunited by members of the 238th General Hospital at their first reunion here on Sept. 10, 11 and 12. Veterans of the Pacific and Belgian battlefields, the group first made plans for such a reunion while still overseas. Long-separated buddies will have ample opportunity to exchange post-war news and gripes.

An exhibit of the best photographs of the 238th group's faces will feature the reunion.

IT BURNED HIM UP

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. (UPI)—Taking time off from his patrol of Swampscott Beach, Policeman Francis Delano stopped at a penny sale and bought a ticket. After waiting several hours in the sun, his number was called and he stepped backward to receive his prize, a sunburn.

THE KITTEN AND PUPPY WHO RAN AWAY

By Joette Lassiter

Rags was a fluffy white kitten with deep blue eyes and soft gentle voice, while I am a collie puppy. We both belonged to Ronnie, a spoiled little boy who lived in a large white house in the suburbs of a large town. Ronnie's play yard would delight the heart of most girls and boys, for his toys were very expensive and he had everything he desired.

Ronnie though, was never happy. He was very ill tempered and even cruel. When he flew into a tantrum, he vented his anger on any luckless object that was near him. Sometimes it would be an expensive toy that he would hurl against a tree, shattering it to bits, and often it would be Rags or I, who would receive his anger. "I know that I should love my master," And I did obey him, a dog's first lesson, as you know, is obedience. But Ronnie had such a horrid disposition that I could not love him, and I was quite certain that he loved neither Rags nor I.

And so we were running away. It had taken us a long time to make up our minds, for it could have been such a pleasant place. We were skulking down the white road in the ever brightening light of day and already we were beginning to have misgivings, but we would not return. Of this we were sure.

Soon the pangs of hunger began to torment me and glazing at Rags, I could see that she was almost exhausted.

"I see a forest ahead," I told her cheerfully, "there we will rest and perhaps we can find something to eat."

Rags did not reply but she smiled brightly at the thought. We soon arrived at the cool green wood and found a clear rippling stream in which to "quench our thirst." Rags was fortunate enough to find a ground mouse and she pointedly offered to share it with me, but I refused. The mouse was small and besides dogs do not consider them a delicacy—instead I ate some wild berries which I found growing near.

As we rested beneath the large oak, we talked of the future. We had no plans, we only wanted to get away from Ronnie's cruelty.

"I don't know how, yet we shall live," Rags said. "But one more of Ronnie's thoughtless pranks, and I probably would have died anyway."

"True," I agreed. "He kept you confined in a cage and threw you into the swimming pool?"

"And if you had not been near to bring me out, I would have drowned," Rags finished.

Tough Talk Wrecks Effect of Charms

BANGKOK, Siam (UPI)—Nai Phabulya was taken to the hospital suffering from more than 20 self-inflicted wounds in his abdomen and arms.

He said he had been testing the "magic" of some charms which were supposed to make him proof against knives of every kind.

The charm had worked in the beginning, he stated, but he attributed their eventual ineffectiveness to the fact that he had used "abusive language" to friends who were watching his experiments.

Jeff Heath Personally Boosted Braves Back Into National League Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. (UP)—Jeff Heath, labeled a problem with Cleveland, a weak fielder with Washington and an indifferent performer with the Braves, fell heir to a brand new title today—power hitter par excellence with the league-leading Boston Braves.

The broad-backed Boston outfielder, discarded by the Browns last winter, personally boosted the Braves back into the National league lead yesterday when he hit his 17th home run of the season with Bob Elliott on base to lead his team to a 3 to 1 triumph over the Phillies. It marked the second time in less than a week that Heath's home run was the deciding factor in a Boston victory.

Heath's circuit smash yesterday was one of the three hits yielded by veteran Dutch Leonard-Johnny (Tobacco) Sain yielded seven hits, one a homer by Eddie Miller, in registering his 17th decision of the year. Boston's victory, coupled with the Dodgers' double loss to the Giants, gave the Braves a game-and-a-half lead in the hotly contested National league race.

The surprising Giants licked the Dodgers, 7 to 5, in the opener and then came back to score a 6 to 3 decision in the nightcap which was called at the end of eight innings because of darkness. Sid Gordon's two home runs, his 29th and 29th of the year, helped relief pitcher Ray Post gain the victory in first game. Andy Hansen held Brooklyn to eight hits in the second game and mastered the Dodgers from start to finish. Carl Erskine, victim of Wes Westrum's two run homer in the second inning, was charged with the defeat.

Charlie Grimm's Chicago Cubs moved into seventh place by one percentage point over Cincinnati with a convincing 10 to 1 victory over Pittsburgh. Dutch Meyer, aided by homers by Andy Pafko and Al (Rube) Walker, allowed the Pirates five hits in chalking up his 10th win.

Cincinnati and St. Louis were not scheduled.

The Yankees climbed to within a half game of the pace-setting Red Sox in the American league with a twin triumph over Washington, 6 to 2, and 5 to 2. Lefty Ed Lopat gained his 15th victory in the first game, thanks chiefly to Joe Dimaggio's two homers. Forrest Thompson was the loser. In the nightcap, Frank (Spec) Shea allowed six hits in racking up his eighth triumph. Dimaggio hit his third homer of the day, his 32nd of the season, off losing pitcher Early Wynn.

The Red Sox managed to retain their slim American league lead by beating the A's 2 to 0. Cleveland split a doubleheader with the Browns, winning the first game 7 to 0. Bob Lemon getting his 10th shutout and 19th win.

85 Mph Wind Rips Through Coastal City Early Today

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4. (UP)—A hurricane roared into Louisiana from the Gulf of Mexico before dawn today, heading for New Orleans, as thousands fled the unsheltered coastline for haven in cities.

The wind was clocked at 75 miles per hour at Lake Charles.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4. (UP)—A hurricane, with winds hitting peaks of 85 miles an hour, ripped through the eastern part of New Orleans early today and police reported that 26 men in small boats were missing in the towering waves of the Gulf of Mexico.

per hour; gusts nearly that strong were felt here two hours before the center was due to pass near the city. The Gulf Coast for 200 miles was warned to expect high tides. One island resort was reported completely under water, with 350 people under Coast Guard care.

At 2:30 a.m. (CST) the Weather Bureau said the storm center was moving inland at about 18 miles per hour. City agencies here were alerted for emergency service. Some 500 people were evacuated.

Reports from the coast were scant and communications were difficult. An oil company official said that 40 men were stationed on a drilling rig built in the gulf were believed to be riding it out. The $1,250,000 structure, however, was built to withstand wind nearly twice as strong as the most vicious in this storm. Fishermen fled to port as the storm blew up, and slashed into the coast only 18 hours after the first hurricane advisory was issued. Some 3,000 boats were tied up safely in the bays of Terrebonne Parish.

A Coast Guard radio report picked up in Houma said Grand Isle was completely under water, and Army engineers believed it was in the path of the center. Weathermen believed the center would pass slightly to the east of New Orleans.

The 1,200 employees of the Texas Oil Co. along the gulf were sent to their homes, except for 25 stationed off Wine Island on Tankers used for oil storage. Some 40 men were believed still on the $1,250,000 Humble oil structure built in 50 feet of water off Grand Isle. It was designed to withstand winds of 194 miles per hour.

Miss Reba Jo Cathey Is Married Friday To Mr. Ralph Lee Maxey In Beautiful Ceremony

At ten o'clock in the morning on Friday, September 3, Miss Reba Jo Cathey, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cathey, Murray, became the bride of Mr. Ralph Lee Maxey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Maxey, of Wickliffe, at the home of the bride's parents.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Wendell H. Rone, pastor of the Memorial Baptist church in the presence of the immediate families and intimate friends before an improvised altar of greenery and southern smilax and baskets of white gladioli. Tall tapers in tiered candelabra illumined the scene.

A program of nuptial music was presented by John Stanley, alto, pianist, and Mrs. Ola Mae Harrell, cousin of the bride, vocalist. Mr. Shelton played "Clair de Lune" (Debussy). Miss Mae Agan, (Victor Herbert), "Liebestraum" (Liszt), and "The Sweet Mystery of Life" (Victor Herbert) and accompanied Mrs. Harrell who sang "I Love Thee" (Grieg), "O Promise Me" (De Koven), and "One Alone" (Romberg). Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was used as the processional. Miss Anna Lee Cray and Mrs. Cathey, mother of the bride, greeted the guests at the door.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a charcoal gray street length dress of tulle tulle tulle.

She carried a lavender corsage with pink ribbon and tied with pink satin ribbons and wore a coronet of seed pearls with pink roses in her hair. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Neil Smith, wore a navy blue dress dress fashioned along the same lines. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations, tied with pink satin ribbons and wore a matching arrangement of flowers in her hair. Little Miss Cecelia Kaye Wallace, flower girl, scattered pink rose petals in the path of the bride. She wore a pink champagne dress trimmed with white eyelash embroidery.

James Thompson, Paducah, Mr. Maxey's roommate in college here, served as best man. The candles were lighted by Wyman Maxey, brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. Cathey chose for her daughter's wedding a black crepe dress and had a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Maxey, mother of the bridegroom, wore a grey crepe with a corsage of white carnations and tuberoses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held. The bride's table was covered with a Irish lace tablecloth and had as its centerpiece a crystal holder with tube roses tied with white satin ribbons and, at the base, asters and tube roses floated in the water. On the buffet was an arrangement of tuberoses and delphinium. The three tiered wedding cake decorated with gardenias was topped with a miniature bride and groom and wedding bell. Miss Anna Lee Cray presided at the punch bowl and the wedding cake was served by Miss Anna Lou Hagar. Others who assisted in the serving were: Mesdames Basil Smith, A. D. Wallace, H. E. Jenkins, Solon Darnell, and Hilton Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxey left immediately for an announced wedding trip. Mrs. Maxey chose for traveling a hunter green gabardine suit with brown accessories. An orchid was pinned to her shoulder.

Mrs. Maxey graduated from Murray State college in May and is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority and Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary society. She is now secretary to the business manager at Murray State.

Mr. Maxey is a senior at Murray State where he is majoring in the field of commerce. He spent four years in the Army Air Forces, part of which time was in the South Pacific.

At September 7, the couple will be at home at 103 North Sixteenth street, Murray.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

PLAYING WITH FIRE
Never had there been a better word for what Lotus was doing. It involved so many things—she felt like a juggler who had too many balls in the air at once. If she failed to catch one the entire act was ruined.

She must think of some scheme to get Stacy Corbin to her room that night so that Aline Cartier could hear for herself that his proposal to her was for strictly ulterior motives.

Once she got him there she must arrange the conversation so that Stacy would confess himself with his own words.

In the meantime she seemed to be making no progress whatsoever in tracing any connection between the Corbins and the cargo of dope which was known to have left Rio on the Gonzales. Yet she was certain they were involved.

They were keeping her at Belle Fleur for a purpose this week and she was convinced that they had known of her escape from the other island and had been expecting her to appear.

Today she must concentrate on making herself attractive to Stacy without appearing to do so. Curtis Corbin's ever-watchful eye must not detect anything out of place in her actions.

IN THE morning before Aline was up Lotus slipped into her bathing suit and swam from the crassy shore to the anchored swimming float. Her shoulder was still tender but she swam with graceful distance-consuming strokes. When she reached the white-painted platform she stretched herself full length in the sun on the diving board. A few moments later she heard the lazy splash of strong masculine arms cleaving the water.

Stacy's tanned body dripping and himself up on the planking "Hi sweet—I saw you strolling down for a dip and couldn't resist the temptation to join you."

"What about Aline—and your father?"

She laughed teasingly and rolled over on the diving board so that her figure was displayed to full advantage.

"The chickens with them!" Stacy scowled at her.

"Ask that, that's not the right attitude. After all, you're going to marry the girl, and she is pretty."

"Rosa, you've got more sex appeal in your little finger than she has in her whole body."

"I think you're wrong there. Aline has a sort of old-fashioned charm that Southern men probably find pretty fetching."

She almost laughed thinking of the determination and positive cold-bloodedness that lay beneath Aline's desire to marry Stacy.

"Oh no doubt of that," he agreed fairly. "She has a punch of the local yokels clamoring for her attention. But I like something a little more 'jazz-bloody'."

His eyes caressed her slim, well-built body.

"Like me Stacy?"

"Yes, like you!"

She laughed mockingly and nodded her head toward Belle Fleur. "So sorry I can't come here. Here comes the girl of your dreams."

Aline was pulling the punt toward them. Lotus stood up on the board adjusted her cap carefully and made a neat perfect dive into the water. She bobbed up beside the float, her face only inches from Stacy's.

"Adios Casanova! I'll leave you to your early morning wooing."

"Don't go!" he said desperately. "Have to—your father gave me my orders."

He started to say something and thought better of it. "I get even with you—just wait until I get you alone!"

BY FOUR o'clock that afternoon when she was to keep her usual rendezvous with Stu Lawrence, Lotus had not yet thought of a pretext to get Stacy to her room that night.

Southeastern Conference Teams Preparing For Rough Schedules

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Coach Johnny Vaughn shoved in the clutch at Mississippi today and boosted the 1948 worrying campaign in high gear.

Vaughn is not a patient man. On the third day of fall practice, he has started worrying about the opener with Florida Sept. 25.

The Rebels are defending conference champions. The fact that Florida finished far down in the Southeastern conference standings makes no difference.

"They're the most improved squad in the conference," says Vaughn. He actually doubts that Ole Miss will take the opener.

Vaughn has troubles, rightly enough, and he is more disappointed than concerned. Foremost of these is finding a replacement for chunky Charlie Conerly. Then there is much polishing to be done on the new "T" formation at Oxford. Five line regulars graduated.

After the frowning session, Vaughn ran his Rebels through a long pass session. He's working six candidates at quarterback, Buddy Bowen, Farley Salmon, Bob Jabour, Bill Mustin and Bobby Os-walt.

Coach Harold "Red" Drew indicated satisfaction with the spirit and condition of Alabama Crimson Tide after only two days of practice. A red-hot battle is shaping up in the backfield, since Billy Cadenhead, junior right halfback, is the only 1947 regular returning.

Coach Bobby Dodd was still following a light schedule at Georgia Tech. The old Tennessee quarterback doesn't believe in rushing his Engineers into shape. And the squad made it easy for him by reporting in good general condition.

The Yellow Jacket chief had earlier singled out sophomore Bob Humphreys of Chattanooga, terming him a "little Doc Blanchard" at fullback Frank Ziegler, a 170-pound Georgian, has the regular berth nailed down and if Humphreys comes through as expected, Allen "Dinky" Bowen, the Mississippi product, can move over to halfback.

Bryant liked the passing of quarterback George Blanda, who was hitting receivers often. Meanwhile, the Cats lost two of their most prospects as sophomores John Chumby, a halfback, and Jim Stephens, a tackle, were declared ineligible scholastically.

Gaynell Tinsley inserted Charlie Pevey in Y. A. Tittle's old quarterback slot in Louisiana State drills. Working at the halves were Dale Gray and Al Heroman, with "Rip" Collins at fullback. Gray and Heroman looked especially good.

General Bob Neyland commented on the condition of his charges in the Tennessee camp. The veteran mentor sent his 57 candidates through a pair of lengthy sessions devoid of contact work. J. B. Proctor, Hal Littleford, W. C. Cooper and Jack Beeler claimed the spotlight in pass drills. The General says he'll start contact work today.

Auburn got back a letterman but lost another one. Floyd Palmer, the hard-hitting junior guard from Jacksonville, reported. But Cliff Grubbs, a halfback who made all-southern in prep school, decided to give up football because of an illness which has not yet been diagnosed. Grubbs, a combat veteran of the Pacific, is thought to be suffering from a disease contracted in service.

Vanderbilt entered rough work under coach "Red" Sanders. The Commodores left the dummies alone and took to tackling each other. Jamieson, Bobby Berry and Dean Davidson were outstanding in an aerial drill. End Bucky Curtis, being groomed as the successor to John North, who was lost through graduation, still stacks up as the best receiver on the Vandy roster.

In Starkville, coach Allyn McKeen was impressed with the performance of end Arthur Tait and tailback Carl Scheiber as the Mississippi Staters prepared for their opener with Tennessee.
